TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We look to the friends of the Ledger to keep us posted concerning events of public interest happening in any part of the county. Our regular correspondents will be furnished with writing material and stamps for this purpose. Births, deaths, marriages, accidents, amusements, mining and other industrial progress, social topics, new buildings, persons leaving or coming into the county, are always acceptable. Give details of important items, no matter how rough a shape. Avoid personal remarks that might give offense. Visitors to foreign towns in the county need not be mentioned, but visits from out of places beyond the county may be recorded.

RUSSIA'S MARCH TO THE SEA.

Russia's determination, as evidenced by recent diplomatic correspondence with China, to retain its grip upon Manchuria, will cause a protest from the several powers interested, and that is about all. Manchuria is a large province forming the north-eastern portion of the Chinese empire. It embraces an area of 370,000 square miles. A better idea of its extent may be gained perhaps by saying that it is as large as California, Arizona and Nevada combined. And this vast territory the insatiable Russian Bear proposes to gobble up with little ceremony. During the Boxer troubles in China Russia took advantage of circumstances, and placed strong military guards at strategic points throughout Manchuria under the plea of protecting its railroad lines—then in course of construction through that land. Manchuria lies in the direct line of Russian expansion south and east. Russia wants it not merely because it is an important step toward securing an open port on the Yellow sea, but also because it is contiguous to her vast Siberian possessions. For hundreds of years this latter reason has been sufficient to cause the great northern power to annex territory. It matters not whether the land be a desert, inhospitable and uninhabitable, if it borders on Russian territory that in itself is deemed sufficient cause for its absorption. And wherever Russia plants its standard, it is not long before it is firmly abode, but to stay. Only once since she started out in her wonderful career of conquest and expansion has she parted with territory. That was in the case of Alaska, which she disposed of to the United States. It was separated from her other possessions by Behring sea. Alaska was outside her sphere of influence; in a different world as it were. She could not reach it by land, and to protect and develop it by sea was not in accordance with her traditions. So she surrendered it for a price. Since then, however, she has added to her dominions an area many times the extent of her former American possessions. This latest grab of Manchuria is more than half as large as Alaska. The United States with other commercial nations is interested in this Manchurian seizure, inasmuch as it violates the open door policy guaranteeing equal trade privileges to all. Russia is an adept in overcoming such difficulties. She will pacify these countries by promising special trading concessions. A narrow strip of Corea now remains between Russia and the seaboard facing Japan.

Japan takes this latest move of Russia to heart more than any other nation. It affects her more than any other power. It means, Russia as the paramount power on the sea board fronting Japan. This is not to the liking of the latter nation, which is not enamored with Russia as a neighbor. Japan is a naval and military power not to be despised even by the Colossus of the North. Single handed, she is no match for Russia, at any rate not in a military sense. From a naval standpoint Russia is vastly superior also in battleships. Neither nation has much history in the way of accomplishments on the sea to boast of. Japan, it is true, acquitted herself well, both on land and sea, in her recent contest with China. Russia is absolutely without a naval record with modern war vessels. Without assistance from one or more of the great powers, it is hardly probable that Japan will do more than protest against the pushing of the Russian frontier to the sea coast.

The Calaveras Prospect thinks Amador county is making a great ado about a trifle in the prominence given to the change made by the last legislature in giving constables and justices of the peace a salary in place of fees in criminal business. A similar law was passed relative to Calaveras county, but our cotemporary says it is generally understood that the law does not become effective until after the present official term expires. With that understanding the main cause for objection is removed. The constitution barrier falls, and the only question that remains is the wisdom of the change. We do not know how it may strike the taxpayers of Calaveras county, but the citizens of Amador are not disposed to look at a law which imposes an additional burden of $20,000 in four years as a small matter. It is just such "small" matters that make the aggregate of taxation burdensome. The tax rate in our sister county is now 20 cents less than in Amador. The question therefore has not reached that acute stage there that it has with us. However, if laws which tend to jump the running expenses thousands of dollars a year are treated as of little interest to the press or to the taxpayers, even though the increase takes effect four years hence, our rich neighbor will "get there" in due time.

PINE GROVE.

An entertainment was given in Pine Grove hall on April 24th, participated in by the children of the school. It was a success from every point of view. Especially pleasing were the poppy drill and the motion song. The efforts of the children and teacher netted $50 to go toward an organ for the school. Refreshments and dancing followed the program. Following is the program, which was interspersed with selections by Messrs. Pitts and Cranmer:

Address, Emerson Luttrell; recitation, "The little school marm," Maud Adams; recitation, "Howard's wish," Roy Matley; song, "Rose of Killarney," Ethel Walker; recitation, "More work for inventors," Bert Zumalt; recitation, "Hattie's views on housekeeping," Madge Luttrell; dialogue, "One of those awful children," Bessie Wheeler and Roy Beem; recitation, "Nobody's child," Florence Barnes; "The sunflowers," ten little girls; recitation, "Socrates Snooks," Mayme Luttrell; recitation, "Our work," the little tots; song, "Just plain folks," Florence Barnes and Roy Beem; recitation and tableau, "A little girl's prayer," Mattie Ballantine; song, "Lina," Ethel Walker and Maud Adams; recitation, "Nobody's mule," Mott Jones; song, "Mary's little lamb," by the boys; dialogue, "The hired girl and the new minister," Bess Wheeler and Elsie Luttrell; recitation, "The soldier's reunion," Walter Sullivan; poppy drill and tableau, by twelve young ladies; recitation, "Mary's little ram," Emerson Luttrell; recitation, "Be polite," Willie Jones; song, "Three little maids from school," from Mikado; recitation, "Phil's complaint," Kelsa Ballantine; recitation, "The old flag," Ethel Walker; jig, Willie Gillick; tableau, "Our cousins."

Rev. Geo. W. Beatty of San Francisco preached in Pine Grove Wednesday evening. The subject of his able discourse being, "The work which lies about us to be done."

Mrs. O. Webster and Miss Alice Adams were present at the church of Mrs. A. C. Adams of that city.

Bad Indeed.

Losing flesh is indeed a bad sign. Take Scott's Emulsion for it. For weak digestion, for defective nourishment, for consumption, take Scott's Emulsion. It restores flesh because it strikes to the cause of the loss.

After wishing Miss Mae many more happy birthdays, the young people took their departure at a late hour, and were all pleased that they had attended.

The Wastes of the Body.

Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size lose two pounds of worn out tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion. When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lags down and health gives way. Disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure dissolves the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all over the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by City Pharmacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Salem Bona returned Saturday, after spending a week with relatives in Volcano.

Geo. Rabey has returned to Mariposa. It becomes my sad duty this week to chronicle the death of Edward Jeffrey, an old resident of this place.

For years past he has been an employee of the Keystone Company, but about six months ago he had to give up his work, for he had fallen a victim of that dreaded disease—miner's consumption.

Mr. Jeffrey was a faithful member of the M. E. church. At one time superintendent of the Sunday school, class leader, and up to the time of his severe illness the adult bible class teacher. He was over zealous in his work for the Master. His remains were interred in the Oak Knoll cemetery Wednesday. He leaves a brother, a widow, and five little ones to mourn his death.

At the close of her sister's term, both of the young ladies will go to Oakland, to spend the summer vacation with their mother.

Claude Watts, who started a restaurant in connection with the Central hotel last week, has gone out of business. He says the outlook was not as encouraging as he anticipated, and after a week's trial concluded to give it up. He quit Wednesday. He opened up at his full time, in the midst of a strike. His grit in doing so was a subject of general remark.

G. W. Burns of Electra, was the lucky man who won the house raffled at Chin's two weeks ago by Mrs. Killings. John Chin, as soon as he found who won, offered $15 for the house, which was promptly accepted. He has had the building torn down, and removed to his lots on Stump street, where he intends to erect a barn out of the material.

While the strike was on last week, one of the men who was enjoying a few days off, approached H. E. Stowers, who was doing some road work for the county just outside of Jackson, and ordered him to quit. Stowers tried to explain the situation, that he was no miner, was not employed for them or by them; that he was on public work, but the fellow didn't see it that way, and said: "No difference; no quit, anybody quita." Stowers had to come to town and report the matter to supervisor Newman, who had to interview the strike leaders before the matter was finally straightened out.

Wm. Scoble, postmaster of Plymouth, was in Jackson Monday on business concerning the postoffice troubles. Some months ago Fred Thoms was appointed postmaster, vice Scoble removed. The cause assigned for this action was that Scoble had moved with his family from the county. Scoble denies having changed his residence, and says he has no intention of changing his abode. He appealed to the postoffice authorities for an investigation of the alleged cause of his removal. So the matter stands. The newly appointed postmaster has not taken the office, but has made all arrangements to that end. Scoble holds the fort at present, although not the past intimation has reached him of any action in Washington toward ending the suspense.

Plighted Forever.

On Wednesday evening, April 23, at 8:30, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Folger on Nob Hill, Wm. T. Jones and Mary Adelle Gorman were quietly married by Rev. Father Gleeson of the Catholic church. Only a few relatives and friends of the happy couple were present. Miss Irene Folger and Ross Moon stood up with the couple and added grace and dignity to the impressive ceremony. The bride was handsomely attired in a beautiful dress of white crepe de chene trimmed in peau de soie and applique. The newly married couple are very popular among the young people of Jackson, and both are prominent in the local parlors of Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. The bride is president of Ursula Parlor No. 1, and the groom is the first vice president of Excelsior Parlor No. 36. These orders as well as the entire community of Jackson, wish the newly wedded pair a happy and prosperous life. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their temporary home with Mrs. Peek. Later they will go to Blue Lakes and spend the summer, where the groom has a position with the Standard Electric Company.

About twenty of the intimate friends of the happy couple, assisted by the mandolin club, serenaded them Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Peek. Good cheer was the sentiment of the hour, enlivened by music and song. Light refreshments were served. The sincerity and good wishes were manifested by all present and duly appreciated by the young couple. It was nearly midnight before the serenading party took their departure.

Mountain Springs School.

The Mountain Springs school, Miss Minnie Payne teacher, closed last Friday. The occasion was made doubly interesting by a pleasing program. Break in the Wire.

Last Wednesday afternoon the electric wire of the Standard Company was cut near the substation just below town by a flying rock from a blast, set off by the road crew. The broken wire carrying 10,000 volts fell to the ground and for a few moments made things lively. The pole was set on fire and the rock and earth about the fallen wire were quickly melted into lava and fused into a solid glassy substance. The telephone was affected and most of the fuses burned out. Word was telegraphed to the plant, and the current shut off as soon as possible. There was no wire in town to repair the line, but Thos. Burrow drove over from Sutter Creek in two hours with the necessary supplies. The line was repaired and the lights on about nine o'clock.—Calaveras Prospect.

Improvements.

The Ginocchio residence is being decorated with a coat of paint. W. W. Plummer, assisted by Dick Angove, is doing the work.

S. Myers is having the front of his store tiled with paint.
W. Tam has made a decided improvement at his residence. He got tired of repairing the picket fence in front of the dwelling, and has had a substantial concrete and stone wall built, with concrete steps and walk to the front door. Upon the concrete wall will be built a neat fence. The change adds much to the appearance of the property.

The Freeman Estate Company have made an excavation in the rear of their store the past week, in order to provide room for the storage of oils and other articles.

Hotel Netherland.

The advertisement of the Hotel Netherland of San Francisco will be found in another column of the Ledger. We do not hesitate to recommend the popular hotel to the people of Amador county who make occasional visits to the city. The proprietors, Chris Schmidt and Chas. A. Phillips, are well-known young men of Sacramento, and are personally known to the Ledger, and we can vouch for the treatment received from them, and hope they will receive a liberal patronage of our people.

Improvement on the Line.

T. A. Marsino, the owner of the Jackson-Volcano stage line, has added a new stage to the run, having brought it up from Stockton on Tuesday. The rig was made to order, and is a model of neatness and durability, and will add much to the pleasure and convenience of the patrons of the route.

Visiting Canada.

Thomas Carley, who has a position at the sulphurets works at the Kennedy mine, returned Wednesday evening from a two month's trip to his old home in Canada. He visited all of the principal cities of Canada as well as those on this side of the line, and while the trip was a pleasant one, Tom was more than glad to get back to California once more.

Would you like a fancy silk vest for nothing? Max Ladar will tell you all about it in another column.

Funeral of Jack Dwyer.

The funeral of John P. Dwyer, who died April 28, took place Thursday at 10 a. m. from the Catholic church, where mass was held by Rev. Father Gleeson. Many relatives and friends of the deceased came from different parts of the state to attend the funeral, and a large gathering of Jackson people was present to pay their tribute of respect to the departed one and the bereaved family. The body was interred in the Catholic cemetery, where the grave was hidden from view by the many floral pieces from the hands of sympathizing friends. The pallbearers, all life-long friends of the deceased, were S. N. Spagnoli, V. J. Chichizola, C. L. Culbert, John Huberty, Geo. Bonney and Wm. Goings.

Jack Dwyer was one of the best known young men in Amador county, and his untimely death, although not unexpected, cast a gloom over Jackson. He was yet a young man, but his death was caused by quick consumption, the result of a cold contracted while in Alaska less than a year ago. When he realized his condition he started for home, and was met in Seattle last January by his wife and Mrs. Chas. Ginocchio, his sister, who brought him home. Since then his health has gradually failed, until death relieved him of all further suffering. He leaves to mourn his death, a widow and two little girls, a father, mother, three brothers and two sisters, all of whom have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Bertha Strohm took place last Saturday afternoon from the M. E. church, Rev. G. H. Van Vliet officiating. The esteem in which the little girl and her parents was held, bore testimony by the large gathering of friends that attended and assisted the bereaved parents. The primary class of the Sunday school, of which the little girl was a member as well as a favorite, attended in a body. Twelve young ladies, all schoolmates of Anna Strohm, the only sister of the departed one, acted as pallbearers, and escorted the remains from the church to the grave. The young ladies, Emma Picard, Philippa Folger, Annie Drobatz, Mamie Norman, Lena Felmet, Henrietta Griffin, Alma Devan, Inez Eudey, May Rose, Gwenne Williams, Della White and Ethel Jordan, were all dressed in white, in token of their sympathy for the loss suffered by their classmate. The choir of the M. E. church sang appropriate hymns both at the church and the grave. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, and sympathizing friends of the bereaved family rendered every assistance possible.

Accident to Mrs. J. B. Washburn.

Mrs. J. B. Washburn met with a painful accident at her residence in the Hamilton tract on Monday. She was in the act of opening a bottle of home-made catsup, when the bottle flew to pieces and the bits of broken glass struck her with sufficient force to break the arms, face and shoulders, to cause several large gashes. Dr. Phillips was called and found it necessary to take several stitches in each of the wounds. It will be some time before Mrs. Washburn will entirely recover from her experience.

Visiting His Old Home.

Geo. W. Toop and wife of Seattle, arrived in Jackson Monday evening, and will spend a few days visiting relatives in this county. Mr. Toop was born in Volcano, but has been away from Amador county for many years. Prosperity has joined hands with him, and he is now a large property holder in Seattle, having retired from business, and is now touring the state on a pleasure trip. Mrs. D. Hall of Jackson is a sister of Mr. Toop. Other members of his family live at Pine Grove.

Gilt Edge.

Wm. Bodefeld, representing Captain Ruhsstaller of Sacramento, the manufacturer of the celebrated Gilt Edge Steam Beer, was in town Tuesday in the interest of that house. Capt. Ruhsstaller was the first man on the coast to unionize his brewery and pay gilt edge wages. That is why his beer is so good. Arrangements have been made to keep this, the best beer in the world, on draught at the Last Chance saloon in Jackson.

A Fish Story.

Frank Burgin, Frank Johnson, Chez Ardito, Billy Hess and Ed Kelley, piloted by "Billy" Blue, left Friday on a fishing trip to the mountains. They returned on Monday, and if all reports are true, enough fish were caught to supply all of Jackson. No one doubts the boys' words, but where are the fish?

Fire at Pine Grove.

The house of Will Hipkins at Pine Grove was burned to the ground about midnight on Tuesday night. The house and contents were a total loss, and it was with difficulty that the family escaped without injury. The house was insured for $400 and the furniture for $100 in a company represented by L. J. Fontenrose.

Expansion.

Dr. A. M. Gall has enlarged his office in the Marela building by adding another room, which will be used for operating purposes and such treatment necessary in a well arranged doctor's office. The improvement is a move in the right direction, and the doctor is now provided with quarters second to none.

Natural food is remarkably short in this section considering the unusually favorable season we have had. Rain fell at just the right time, and it was thought that grass would be very plentiful. It is not so, however, and the reason is not easy of explanation. Grain is also short, although healthy and vigorous in appearance. Timely showers will bring it out all right, and ensure a good crop.

THE BIG STRIKE OVER

Both Sides Satisfied—Mines Getting Into Running Order Again.

The big strike came to an end Friday night. At that time a special meeting of Jackson Union was held. It was evident throughout the day that important business was on hand. M. W. Moor, of the Western Federation, had visited Paloma during the day, and the superintendents of all the mines had also had a meeting during the day. From these things, it was surmised that the special meeting was called to consider some proposition toward ending the struggle. As soon as the members gathered in their hall, David McClure, superintendent of the Gwin mine, was invited to make a statement in behalf of the mine owners, embodying what they were disposed to grant. He discussed at some length the points in dispute, and thereafter presented the following propositions in writing as the final stand of the mine owners:

(1) No discrimination against union men as such.

(2) Substitution of nine hours for what is now ten hours underground with same rate of wages.

Explanatory—Said shift to begin when first men start down from collar of shaft, and to end when first men start up shaft from station after quitting work, with time taken for lunch added. In other words, time required to get to work and time to get to station after work to be on companies' time, and time required to get out of shaft at end of shift and to eat lunch on men's time.

(3) That reinstatement be left to the discretion of the mine management.

(4) No cure to be recognized.

Mr. McClure, after making his statement, withdrew, and the union deliberated over the matter. The discussion, however, was brief, and in a short time he was informed by M. W. Moor that his proposition had been accepted, and the strike had been called off. It was getting along toward midnight when the result was known. The union men showed their gratification over the end of the controversy by rounds of cheers, and everybody seemed happy that the termination came as soon as it did, without that serious disturbance of business conditions which a prolongation of the conflict was bound to bring about.

The terms of settlement regarding the working hours are so plainly stated that it is hardly possible that they can be misunderstood. The new system means a substitution of nine working hours in the place of ten. In other words a concession by the superintendents of one full hour in working time. The miners, however, while they fully understand the language, claim that it means 14 hours less per day to them. So that under these circumstances, the reformed time table gives the utmost satisfaction to the men, and at the same time concedes a reduction of the working hours underground which had long before the strike been under serious consideration of the mine managers. It is confidently expected that the mines will lose nothing by the change. That the same amount of work will be done in nine hours that has heretofore been done in ten with the same number of men. Indeed the men themselves are not backward in saying that they will show by actual results that the nine hour day will be a saving all round.

Sunday afternoon the union miners had a grand parade in commemoration of the settlement. It was distinctly understood that it was not designed as a glorification on their part over the outcome. It was not in the spirit of exultation, but simply an orderly turnout to express the general feeling of relief over the ending of the trouble. The procession started from the hall on Court street, headed by the Jackson band. By actual count the parade numbered a little over 300. In front of the Central hotel a halt was called, and addresses made from the balcony. W. D. Oulds as president of the Jackson organization introduced the speakers. Brief addresses were made by Dr. Lonigo, R. C. Boles and R. Tadich, the latter addressing them in English, Italian and Austrian.

Monday morning the Zella mine resumed work. Several days must elapse before a full force is put on. The Kennedy will take several days to drain the mine and get in fix to employ a full complement of men. The new mill was started Monday on ore from the dump. There is plenty of this on hand to keep the mill going for some time.

As might be anticipated some discussion at once arose in setting the new time schedule into operation. At the Kennedy and Oneida, the time allowed for dinner did not suit some. These mines pursued the same course in this respect that was in vogue before the strike—namely one hour for dinner. The miners, or some of them, wanted half an hour, and to eat underground. This would reduce the work-day half an hour. Another bone of contention arose in relation to a few men who were not taken back to work. Although this point is covered by the terms of settlement, leaving the question of reinstatement in the hands of the superintendent, the men were under the impression that all who went out on strike would be restored to employment; that the reinstatement related only to those who were discharged before the strike. Notices were posted up Monday calling a special meeting of Jackson Union for Tuesday evening. That meeting passed, however, without any action in regard to these questions. As soon as the Kennedy management became aware of the kick about lunch hour, the half hour arrangement was promptly conceded.

There is no doubt that all the managers took the course deemed best to faithfully carry out the terms of the agreement, and to satisfy their employees.

He was also recommended for the office of grand organizer.

The Dispatch wants to know why the republican county central committee was called together last Saturday week? This action in a time of political inactivity onlouses our contempt. The truth is, the county committee was not called together, only the executive committee of that body. We do not know what particular business was transacted. We believe the executive committee has the right to hold an "executive" meeting, for consultation or definite action whenever the members feel like doing so, and that too without giving public notice thereof.

Henry Bradley, the shakemaker, bought a horse some five months from a person in the mountains. The animal proved a fair saddle horse, and Bradley was congratulating himself on his bargain, when the matter assumed a phase that he little anticipated. Monday he rode to lone on the horse, and was told on the way that he was riding a stolen horse; that it belonged to the Bonneyfys. He came on to Jackson, and sure enough the horse was identified as one that had been missed from the Bonneyfy pasture several months ago. Bradley was perfectly innocent in the matter, and was the victim of a poor bargain. There was nothing to do but to surrender the animal to its owner, and seek redress from the party from whom it was purchased. He turned over the horse Tuesday morning. He had made arrangements to go to his mountain place that day, but this turn of affairs left him without any way of traversing the thirty miles except on foot. Bradley says this is just about the sort of luck that has attended him in his trading enterprises.
